

History of Children's Literature

Chapter II

1. What is meant by the term "oral tradition?" What types of stories were part of this tradition?
2. What were hornbooks? How were they used?
3. What were chapbooks? Why have they been identified as the forerunners of children's books?
4. What did Charles Perrault give us?
5. How were the original fairy tales of the Brothers Grimm different from the fairy tales of today?
6. Describe the early illustrations in children's books. How did Randolph Caldecott make a mark in this field? How is he honored for his contributions?
7. List three books that are now considered classics.
8. How have views of the child and family in literature changed over time? List specific books that reveal these changes.